

WOMEN TRY TO LIFT CAR FROM MANGLED BOY

Meanwhile B. R. T. Agents
Hurry Witnesses of Killing
Into Car Ahead.

Inspectors for the B. R. T. induced many of the passengers to take cars ahead that the police obtained the names of only two who witnessed the high speed of a car that killed ten-year-old Vincent Sweeney, of No. 74 Sands street, Brooklyn; but others sent their names to the family to-day.

The boy was on Adams street, near Nassau, yesterday afternoon, when a Seventh avenue car, loaded with passengers from the Manhattan side, came rapidly along with its fender up, hit the boy and tossed him several feet.

Then the car hit him again, the wheels of the front truck passing over him, and when the car was brought to a stop the wheels of the rear truck rested upon his mangled body.

Immediately opposite is the house occupied by the Asafoz Club, an organization of young society women of the Heights maintained for the benefit of pupils of Public School No. 1 Annex. The young women were instructing a class in callisthenics when the screams of the boy brought them running into the street. They implored the men present to tip the car over and release the boy. The men tried, the young women helping, but their united strength was unequal to the task. They were still trying to devise means to free the boy when Ambulance Surgeon Morzenzthal, of the Brooklyn Hospital, arrived, and, crawling under the car, found the boy to be dead. A wrecking crew finally released the body.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 26.—With a concussion that shook houses and business buildings within a radius of several blocks, broke windows and inflicted other damage, an explosion last night in the iron converter building of the Cambria Steel Company seriously injured four men and practically wrecked the building.

PITTSBURGH HAS A $200,000 BLAZE

Factory in Allegheny Section
Burned—Walls Crush
Four Dwellings.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—An eight-story building at No. 3 Isabella street, Allegheny, occupied by the Boyd Trunk Company, was destroyed by fire last night. Four dwellings were demolished when the side walls of the building fell, but no one was injured, as all the tenants had been ordered out. They were unable to save any of their household effects. One chemical engine was destroyed by the falling walls.

A strong high wind carried burning embers over a large area and all the houses and buildings in the vicinity were threatened. Rain, however, aided the firemen and they were able to confine the blaze to the one building.

The loss is estimated at $200,000.

How to Tell if the Kidneys
Are Inactive and a Simple
Recipe to Mix.

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering, frequently resulting in deformity, often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble. Many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, &c., are but symptoms the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of the urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand overnight; next morning, if there is a reddish brickdust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and the sufferer should mix it at home: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.
